FIFTEEN CENTS

Wilton, Weber wait

Trustees' future in Gov's hands?

by GLORIA DAVIS

It seems that the political fate of two of Antioch's trustees, Robert Wilton and Mabel Lou Weber, might now be in the hands of Illinois Gov. Jim Thompson.

House Bill 345, removing the indirect connection from a state statute that bans public officials from any direct or indirect connection with the sale or distribution of liquor, is now laying on Thompson's desk awaiting the governor's signature.

Thompson vetoed the same bill in 1980. He must take action on this draft by August 15.

The bill is the brainchild of State Rep. Richard Mautino (D-Spring Valley) who first brought it before the Illinois House in 1978. The bill finally passed the house and the state senate in 1980 but was killed when Thompson vetoed it.

Mautino cited several cases in the state where the "indirect" was interpreted as broadly as a semi-truck driver who intermittently transported liquor, who could not serve on a board.

Mautino did say that in cases, such as in Antioch, when said people have liquor license approval they should abstain from voting on a license they were indirectly involved with.

Mautino's bill passed the house in May and received senate approval on June 20 but the senate okayed the bill only after two amendments were tacked onto it. One of those amendments put the indirect connection back in the bill.

Mautino then had the bill brought in front of a conference committee of 10 legislators who agreed to drop the indirect connection.

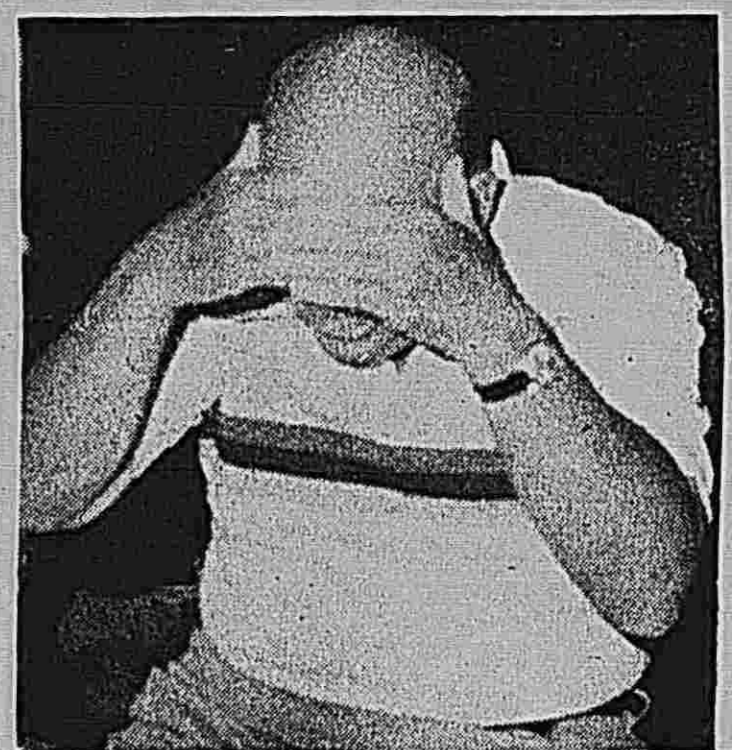

Wilton claims he knew nothing about the bill until a few days before the last board meeting when the board approved the application for a liquor license by the owners of the new Thompson's Restaurant now under construction at the intersection of Rtes. 59 and 173.

Wilton's wife, Leta, is one of those owners. The restaurant is due to make its Antioch debut in late August.

Weber is employed as a bookkeeper for Antioch Bowl on Rte. 173 which also holds a village issued liquor license.

Weber said that, after getting legal advice on the matter, she feels that even if the governor vetoes the bill again it does not really involve her because the interpretation of the word indirect is too broad in her case.

Whether or not Wilton will be able to retain his trustee seat and be in any way physically involved in the workings of the restaurant is another question still unanswered even if Thompson puts his John Hancock on the bill.

High School teachers get 9 percent hike

by GLORIA DAVIS

Money, curriculum and teachers for the upcoming school year were the main points of business handled at the last regular meeting of the Antioch High School Board of Education, Thursday, July 21.

The board ratified the contract that had been negotiated with the teachers for the 1983-84 school year, giving the teaching staff of the high school an overall raise of nine percent, with fringe benefits and increments included.

It was announced that the public hearing on the proposed 1983-84 school budget will be held at 7:30 p.m., Thursday, Sept. 15, in the board room. The tentative budget will be on display in the general office beginning August 11.

There will be two new teachers at the school when the fall term begins. Larry Kamin will be teaching mathematics and Rosemary Collard will be the new part-time Spanish teacher.

There will also be three new foreign exchange students when the school bell rings: Ivar Lovund from Norway, sponsored by Youth For Understanding; Ralph Even from West Germany, sponsored by the Antioch Rotary Club; Catarina Tossman from Sweden, sponsored by the American Scandinavian Student Exchange.

In other business, the board approved the signing of a contract with Honeywell Corp. for an Energy Management System.

Registration dates for the fall term were announced by Gary Allen, director of curriculum and are as follows: freshman, from 8 a.m. to 3 p.m., on Monday, August 22; sophomores, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., on Tuesday, August 23; juniors, from 8 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., on Wednesday, August 24, and seniors will register from 8 a.m. to noon on August 25.

All registrations will be held in the cafeteria. Allen also reported on the secondary, elementary articulation schedule and its participants: Antioch Upper Grade School, Lake Villa, St. Peter, Antioch Community High School, Millburn, Grass Lake and Emmons.

Pertaining to the same matter, the board approved that the school fees for the 1983-84 school year will remain the same as the year just passed, amounting to approximately $25 for returning students and $30 for new students, the difference being the cost of two locks now being used by students during their stay.

The cost of a Class A lunch will be more next year with the price jumping five cents per lunch from 85 cents to 90 cents.

Grade school tentatively okays budget

The proposed 1983-84 budget for the Antioch Grade School District is up by 6.8 percent, from $3,628,000 last year to a proposed $3,873,000.

The board tentatively adopted the budget at its July 19 meeting, with a public hearing on the budget to be held Sept. 20. Until that time, the budget will be available for review from the administrative office.

In other action, the board heard that the district had a "very low, almost unheard of figure" of absences among staff last year.

According to Supt. Donald Skidmore, the average number of days missed by teachers last year was 4.26 days, compared to 5.48 days in 1981-82 and 7.47 days in 1980-81.

The average at Oakland Grade School, he said, was only 2.2 days per teacher.

As a result the $3,300 remaining in the substitute fund was divided among the teachers who missed less than six days. Nine teachers had perfect attendance and two only missed a half-day. Gift certificates as well as a bonus were awarded to those teachers.

Skidmore said the non-certified staff also had excellent attendance last year. Thirty-one employees qualified for an attendance

Antioch eighth grader top state essayist

The hi-light of the recent American Legion Auxiliary Dept. Convention for Antioch Unit 748 delegates Betty Davis and Clementine Fusco was the presentation of Pam Kasproicz, eighth grader at St. Peters School, the first place winner in Class I of this year's Americanism Essay Contest, titled "How Great Americans Have Influenced My Heritage."

Everyone who reads the essay that follows will understand why it also took first place in all of Illinois and know she will be one of the many who will become good, upstanding citizens of the great United States of America.

"My heritage is influenced by many great Americans. But instead of picking a few, the large group I chose has succeeded in making this country free. They were the people who influenced, signed and supported the historic document in which the American Colonies declared their freedom. This great document is called the Declaration of Independence.

More importantly, however, are the members of the Continental Congress and the 56 signers of the Declaration of Independence who each added something to this document.

While these men played the major role, many others were equally important and deserve to be recognized. That document might have been passed but couldn't have been carried out without the brave soldiers, loyal followers, and all of the strong supporters of independence.

The members of the Continental Congress who met at Philadelphia's State House, reasoned and debated over the document until it expressed their viewpoints and grievances. Many individuals in the Congress were especially known for all of their important additions that makes the Declaration of Independence what it is.

Richard Henry Lee introduced to Congress, on June 7, the resolution that all of the colonies should be free. Thomas Jefferson, known as the author of the Declaration of Independence, was instructed to make the first draft of the document in his unusual wordy way.

He did so to John Adams and Benjamin Franklin's satisfaction. Benjamin Franklin, although he didn't say much, made his opinions known in the meetings and debates when he spoke with his years of experience supporting him.

All of these men played an important role in American History and that is one of the reasons I chose this patriotic group of Americans. The United States might have never become a country if it weren't for those men.

They wanted a better society for themselves, their children and their descendants. Although they knew the troubles Britain would impose, they were determined to win the rights and regulations of free men. These delegates succeeded in their task and made their voices heard throughout the world.

Those heroes of 1776 affect me now, over 200 years later, by making the United States a free and prosperous place to live but also, by making our country an example to the world of our courage and strength.

It is also a symbol to us that we should stand up for what we think is right, be strong and not always take the easy way out. Those men took a great chance signing the Declaration of Independence, but did so that the people of the present day could be forever free."

Continue soil hearing HOD won't dish dirt if injunction sticks

by GLORIA DAVIS

According to Donna Henderson of Antioch Village Atty. Ken Clark's office, Waste Management seems ready to sit down and make the village another offer. That would not be implemented unless the disposal company comes out on the losing end of the hearing on the village's injunction stopping the vertical expansion of the landfill site in Antioch.

That hearing is scheduled for Monday, Sept. 12.

At the Lake County Zoning Board of Appeals soil erosion hearing, held on Wednesday, July 20, on the request by Waste Management, Inc. for 227,000 cubic yards of soil, the village contended that the disposal company must have a conditional use permit granted for the removal of that much soil before a soil erosion permit can be granted.

"That many cubic yards of soil would fill 12,500 semi-trucks," said Henderson.

After requesting a recess, Waste Management made another proposal to the village that essentially said that if the disposal company loses the expansion hearing then the 227,000 yards of soil would not be needed. All they would need would be enough for the required four foot cover of the site.

This is a move the village wants them to make.

That hearing has been continued until 9:30 a.m., on August 16, on the 10th floor of the Lake County Building.

So the Waste Management situation is now in three stages, the soil erosion hearing, the village's appeal on the horizontal expansion now in the Appellate Court and the vertical expansion hearing set for Sept. 12.

Village policy pays for sewer damage

According to Phil Burke, long-time Antioch resident and recently announced candidate for the U. S. Senate, the insurance company for the Village of Antioch, Arthur Gallagher and Co., Rolling Meadows, has agreed to pay him $4,900 for the replacement of paneling in his home and $1,500 for the reconstruction of flooring.

Burke claims that the backing up of the sewers caused this damage.

Representatives from the insurance company refused to comment on the agreement and Todd Mapleshorpe, Antioch superintendent of public works, did the same.

Marilyn Sterbenz, village clerk, said that she had heard that Burke and the insurance company had come to some agreement but she did not know the details.

Burke also said that he had filed another suit against the village in small claims court, on July 25 for $2,500 for reimbursement on the cost of digging and installing a new sewer line to his home at 525 Orchard St.

Burke claims 85 hours of labor costs, $300 for landscaping and $1,713 for the sewer line, excluding labor costs.

Burke said that the village had blamed the sewer back-ups on his upstream neighbors' depositing of substances that caused the stoppage.

No comment on the entire situation was forthcoming from village officials.

The village, in order to avoid being fined, is presently involved in meeting federal sewer regulations by fall by doing such sewer maintenance as removing sludge from sludge beds and sealing 333 leaking joints in the sewer pipes.

Although the sludge dumping will pose a slightly larger problem this year because it was usually dumped at the HOD site in the village (now closed by Waste Management, Inc.), the village feels finding deposit sites should be fairly easy since the sludge has been cleared of toxic or any other detrimental content by testing.

Win Awards

Antioch Community High School students Debbie Pearse, Ron Ligenski, Bob Reynolds and Randy Montrimas won second place and Bob Reynolds and Larry Verkeyn won third place ribbons in the statewide Town and Country Art Show for ceramics.

UTILITY HELP

Friday, July 29, is the last day for Antioch residents to apply for assistance in paying their utility bills.

According to Burke, the sewer line was too small and not properly maintained although it had been approved by village inspectors.

SMOKING, TEETH AND GUMS

Q. How does smoking affect teeth and gums?

A. Studies have shown that smokers are more than twice as likely to contract gum disease than non-smokers. The heat smoking generates and the chemicals in the smoke irritate palate and mouth tissues. Smoking can cause circulatory problems too, slowing down or halting circulation necessary to maintain normal dental tissues.

Smoking also depletes the body's store of Vitamin C. In fact, smoking just four cigarettes destroys all the Vitamin C you get from an 8-ounce glass of citrus juice. Lack of sufficient Vitamin C robs blood and tissue of the oxygen that gums need to counteract the destructive effects of periodontal anaerobic bacteria.

Pipe smokers accumulate even more stain on teeth than cigar, cigarette or non-smokers do. Pipes can also create a kind of traumatic occlusion from teeth pressing on the pipe stem, causing teeth to shift in the mouth, loosening the teeth, and affecting supporting gum and bone tissue adversely.

When I think about it

Let's vacation hard, take a MasterCard

by GLORIA DAVIS

For those of you that are getting ready to go away on vacation, after you've checked your suitcase and made sure you've packed at least twice as many clothes as you will need (No vacation would be complete without lugging that extra tonage), check your wallet to make sure you've brought at least three times the amount you figure on spending plus at least one national credit card.

I remember one vacation when I really did myself proud by packing only three basic outfits but alas and alack, the suitcase full of the belts that made me fashion-ready for any happening, was heavier than my basic piece of luggage.

My husband (the shoe nut) is even worse than I am. His lucky golf shirt or his game may not be up to par with Johnny Miller but his golf shoes will be as good as his or better.

My aching back still remembers the time he took a suitcase full of shoes along. Aren't we lucky the airlines has never lost our luggage! Who'd believe the belt-shoe bit?

About the vacation spending, anyone that's even stayed in Chicago overnight knows about the "best paid plans of mice and men." If you think that you've got more than enough, you'll probably just skim by by eating peanutbutter and crackers for the last few days.

And, heaven forbid, if you have it figured to the dollar, you're in trouble. Selling the second half of your round trip ticket and wiring home for money won't help if you've tapped the till dry beforehand.

Living the rest of your life in Yellowstone National Park might not be so bad, depending on how you feel about bears as best friends.

We recently took a trip to the New York City and unlike those who find it voguish to spit out the "Big Apple" before really biting into it, I loved it.

Give me a townhouse on Central Park West and Barbara Walters' income and I could make do.

I won't say that it's expensive but things like ordering a bagel at $2.50 per for breakfast and getting charged $5 for the cream cheese that goes on top, will soon throw many a vacation budget.

Of course I didn't fall for that one the second time. The next morning we planned on breakfast at a semi-fast food restaurant right in the hotel but when we found out that those prices were slightly less than those in the expensive hotel we opted for atmosphere and headed for the nearest glass and brass tower we could find.

There the basic omelettes were just a bit more but those $2 cups of coffee (And me who doesn't wake up until the sixth one) and $4 glasses of ojay could break the vacation bank.

It took a couple of days to realize that half of the costly cab rides were unnecessary when I noticed that we had pulled up to a restaurant in a building just down the block from our hotel after a 20 minute death defying trip through downtown Manhattan.

Then there was the $7 ride to Toots Shores' for an after theater drink and the $7 trip back to Sardi's right across from the theater when we found the former closed.

But I did have a piece of cheesecake at Lindy's, when we finally found the real Lindy's after sighting the carbons all over town and I choked down one of those wonderful looking and smelling huge soft pretzels sold on every street corner.

Doctor, I have this lump of lead in my stomach!

But the telephone number of our hotel was Pennsylvania 6-5000 and, since it was across from the Pennsylvania Station, I was thrilled to be on Glen Miller's old stamping grounds.

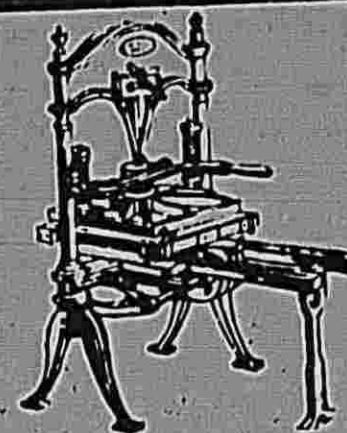

And the sights from the observation deck of the World Trade Building were breathtaking or was the breathing hard because of the smog that kept visibility down to two miles?

I couldn't figure out why the Statue of Liberty looked so short and St. Patrick's Cathedral so small till it dawned at me that my viewing point was more than 106 stories in the sky.

Sure the bustle and especially the hustle on the streets is very prevalent but I was ready for them, I did a lot of free things like run in and out of Grand Central Station, jog in Central Park (mid-day of course) and try and guess who the caricatures in Sardi's were. Well that last one was not quite for nothing with the drinks costing $3.50 apiece.

But believe me, it's a wonderful town and I'm raring for a return visit as soon as I can sell my house, cash in all my CD's, sell my husband and all my wordly possessions.

Hey a week in Manhattan is well worth the price, wasn't that Liz and Dick I just heard yelling at each other on Broadway?

The Antioch Township High School Board passed an $8,000 levy for 1933 which resulted in real estate taxes of 90 cents per $100 of property valuation, a 28 cent reduction over the previous year.

P. E. Chinn, manager of the local A&P, received a weekend trip to the Chicago World's Fair from his company for expert salesmanship.

The Antioch Village Board was expected to pass a tax levy ordinance which would result in the saving of $934 in the cost of village government for 1933.

Mel and Roberta Knirsch returned from a trip to the Scandinavian countries and Leningrad, Russia.

Most babies begin to recognize their mother or father at the age of three months.

Along the way with ANNIE MAE

Wasn't that Rotary Scholarship Challenge Race fun last Friday evening! I certainly hope that it is the first of an annual event.

And how about the marvelous Avis Hamlin!! She looked better than A. J. Foyt out there on the track as she literally skunked Homer LaPlante and Bud Holtz in the "Roaring 20's Youth Race."

In fact it was the gals most of the night out there with Bev Sikich from U. S. Cable, not only whipping her male cable counterpart but winning the whole media race.

And it sure was gratifying to see Audrey Howard, one of Lakeland's Editors, do the same to our sports editor and the race track's announcer Mike Babicz.

Congrats to Mr. and Mrs. Don Poulter's little boy Scott who was named to the dean's list for the second semester at St. Norbert's College in De Pere, Wi..

Speaking of the Hamlin family, Avis' son Jim is no slouch behind the wheel himself, as he lead for the first half of the Rotary Member Race.

"I had it won but my car just gave out," he said congratulating the winner John Lavelle.

But my favorite of all was "Wild Willie" who was behind the wheel of the Wilmot Ready Mix truck. The water sprayed on the fans by those trucks was a pleasant surprise on that hot and muggy night.

I see that our pretty little Miss Antioch is limping a little better this week. Hurting her knee water skiing hasn't dampened the wonderful high spirits of that gorgeous Nancy Koziol.

Have you seen those crowds that have been thronging to the swimming pool in Williams Park lately, trying to deal equitably with those 100 degree temperatures?

Old Annie Mae has the perfect "beat the heat" formula: little food, lots of liquids; little clothing, lots of fans; (and most of all) little action and lots of rest.

Well, well, did you see Police Chief Chuck Miller's name in People Magazine in the article concerning "Hands Across the Border," and the fight against drunk drivers?

Get those pennies ready! Maxwell Street Days are coming to town the last weekend in July.

More congrats to Robert Thain, a freshman at the University of Illinois at Urbana, who was initiated into the Alpha Lambda Delta national honor society. That means he had at least a 4.5 grade average out of a possible 5.0. Wow!!

The Little League Yankees closed out the 1983 season by winning the round robin tournament.

The Yankees started the tournament against the Giants. Going into the bottom half of the sixth inning the Giants were winning 5-2. A bunt single by Craig Askew and walk to Jared Duda and Jason Steaman loaded the bases for Kenny Litchfield.

After taking the first two strikes, Litchfield hit a grand slam home run to win it for the Yankees 6-5. Chris Giebelhaus and Scott Euehek made fine catches in the outfield. Craig Askew was the winning pitcher for the Yankees, giving up just one run on only two hits in his three innings of duty.

The Yankees second game was against the Orioles. Danny Grote pitching his best game of the season led the Yanks 6-3 over the Orioles. Grote went all six innings and also contributed at the plate by getting two hits. Kenny Litchfield also helped the Yanks by getting two hits and scoring two runs.

The Round Robin Championship game saw the Yankees come out a 6-4 winner over the Dodgers. Dean Pedersen's double in the third inning which drove in two runs was the key hit, giving the Yanks a 5-3 lead.

However, the real difference in the game was the fine infield play of shortstop Billy Redmond, third baseman Rich Grandstart and second baseman Dean Pedersen and Jason Steaman.

They handled 15 chances while making only one error for the game. Craig Askew again pitched well in relief, preserving the win for Chris Giebelhaus.

Fred Beeson helped the Yankees at the plate by getting his first hit of the season. Fine outfield play by Guy Patts and Robbie Delaney helped the Yanks throughout the tournament.

They Yankees finished the season with an 11-6 overall record, their first winning season in four years. Coach Ron Giebelhaus and his assistant Jim Litchfield express their thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Dean Pedersen for the picnic they gave the players and coaches.

In the first game, Billy Wons, Brendon Hannigan and Matt Kruczek combined to pitch the Cubs to a 14-12 victory in seven innings.

The second game was won by the Tigers 8-6, in seven innings, despite a fine performance on the mound by Kruczek and Mike Browne.

The final series game represented the type of ball manager Glenn Tointon likes his team to play a 12-3 "run and gun" win by the Cubs.

Exciting base running, good defense, and timely hits by Joe Ring and Chris Tointon sparked the victory. The Cubs finished the season with an 11-6 record.

Andre's 'Chapter' disappointing show

by AUDREY HOWARD

American Repertory Theatre Systems' production of Neil Simon's "Chapter Two," is an essentially disappointing one. The show is now running at Andre's luncheon theater.

Simon's autobiographical show, revolves around George, a recently widowed New Yorker trying to put his life back together after his wife's death.

George's life is complicated by his brother Leo's well-intentioned attempts to find him another woman. However, George doesn't feel he is ready to date and tries to fend off Leo's attempts at matchmaking.

George's feelings about dating change when he accidentally meets one of Leo's eligible women. Jenny is a recent divorcee who felt the same way about dating until she met George.

Harry J. Bartlett as George is the strongest performer in the show. He finds some of the subtleties in George, and brings a refreshing understatement to the role.

Colleen K. Jordan, Jenny, is best in her scenes with Bartlett. They seem to have a genuine rapport that is missing in the relationships between the other characters.

The production, directed by Barbara D. Miller, also features Brian B. Blanchard as Leo and Ruth Strohlfledt as Faye. The show runs through Aug. 25 at Andre's Steak House in Richmond.

Combine peanut butter with a little honey. Makes a great sandwich spread for raisin bread or peanut muffins.

Gron, Andre to go to Elmhurst

Elmhurst College has signed two Antioch High School graduates to play football this fall.

John Andre, a 6-0, 205 lb. defensive lineman for the Sequoia last season, is expected to see action in the same position for the Bluejays.

Ed Gron, 5-11, 185 lb. linebacker, will also be on the Bluejays squad.

Tom Beck, Elmhurst head coach, termed both young men "excellent prospects" and credited their coaching which they received at Antioch High School as playing a major part in their football training.

Gron is the son of Sandra Mattschall of Lake Villa.

Andre is the son of Dennis and Geraldine Andre of Antioch.

Elmhurst, a perennial football power, is coming off a 6-3 season.

Under Beck, the Bluejays are 44-20 and have been consistently among the nation's leaders in total offense for NCAA Division III.

Skidmore said that student attendance was not as good although it was below the national average. "The figures still bother me because it averages out to about nine days per student, and that's a lot lost in instruction time," he said.

He added the district will work on reducing the absenteeism rate among students.

In other action, the board:

— Awarded a bid for gas for the 1983-84 school year to GAA Oil Co., which was the low bidder at 97 cents per gallon.

Olsen set for All-Star Game

the Antioch Football Sequoits will be represented by Derek Olsen in the annual Illinois Coaches Shrine All-Star Football Game to be played on Saturday night, August 6.

Kickoff is scheduled for 7:30 p.m. in Hancock Stadium on the campus of Illinois State University in Normal.

Olsen, who will be playing for the west squad, will be at split end-wide receiver in the annual benefit game.

he is the first player from Antioch High School selected to play in this game.

Several of Olsen's accomplishments in his senior season at Antioch during which the Sequoits made it to the semifinals of the state tournament before losing in the closing seconds to Tilden in a game played at Soldiers' Field proved to be outstanding.

Olsen was selected to the Chicagoland All-Area team, All-State, All-Northwest Suburban Conference and All-Lake County.

He was chosen the Chicago Tribune Prep Athlete of the Week for his performance against Woodstock during which he had 11 pass receptions, totaling 232 yards and three touchdowns, and also had two point after touchdown kicks.

His season's record included catching 48 passes for a gain of 1,013 yards including 11 touchdowns.

He also did well enough in the kicking department, scoring 34 point after kicks plus five field goals, including two of 42 yards each during the state tournament.

All of those of Olsen's statistics were school records.

He also led the Sequoit pack in the scoring department as he rolled up 117 total points.

This fall, Olsen will be attending Brown University to play in the Ivy League.

Off the field, Olsen also had a B-plus grade point average. He is the son of Richard and Joyce Olsen of Spafford St., Antioch.

Olsen expressed his appreciation to the First Bank of Antioch which is sponsoring him to assist in his trip to Normal.

The game which Olsen will be playing, in the past eight seasons, has raised over $200,000 to assist Shrine-run orthopedic and burn hospitals throughout the country in their operation.

In addition to Olsen's being named to the playing squad, Steve Wapon, veteran Sequoit head coach, has been selected to serve as an assistant coach on the West squad.

State Bank now offers new brokerage service

A new State Bank of Antioch discount-brokerage service will enable bank depositors to buy and sell stocks, bonds, options and government securities in an investment program designed to provide the independent-minded investor with a full range of essential brokerage services within the bank at reduced commissions.

"A discount broker charges lower trading commissions than other securities brokers by focusing on basic services and eliminating 'extras' such as research departments and commissioned sales forces," said Andy Bernhardt, State Bank president, "and the only difference in our service from that of a full-commission broker is that we won't attempt to give personal investment advice."

For a good number of years, the State Bank has had a similar relationship with customers familiar with securities transactions wanting to make their own choices rather than rely on advice from a broker."

"Our new affiliation with Wall Street Clearing Co. of New York," said Bernhardt, offers depositors "no frills" service, lower commission fees and convenience of trading in the bank with our own professional staff."

In addition to stock purchases, sales and transfers, the State Bank Investment Account offers current price quotations, prompt and reliable execution of orders in all major markets, complete account services including trade confirmations, monthly statements, year-end reports and quick responses to account inquiries.

The Investment Account service is available only to persons who have a State Bank checking, NOW, regular savings or Money Market deposit account.

Bernhardt, speaking of the profound changes in banking, brought about by the interplay of high interest rates, technology and deregulation, said, "We welcome the opportunities we now have to offer our customers an ever-wider range of financial services, and our new discount brokerage service is just the start of ways in which we can deliver what our customers want and need on a cost-effective basis."

For information on the State Bank Investment Account, phone a bank representative in New Accounts-Customer Service, (312) 395-2700 or plan a convenient visit to the bank at 440 W. Lake St., Antioch.

VFW to sponsor annual contest

The 37th Annual Voice of Democracy Scholarship Program is a national program sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars and its auxiliary in conjunction with local and national media.

It is designed to give high school students the opportunity to voice their opinions about their responsibility to their country and convey the information to the nation.

All high school students in public, parochial and private schools are eligible to compete. More than 500,000 students participated last year.

Each year a new theme is introduced and it always pertains to patriotism or Americanism in general.

This year's theme is "My Role in Upholding the Constitution." The program begins in September and entries are submitted by mid-November.

County, District and State judging follows. The winner in each school moves up to the next level of competition.

Participants are judged on originality, positive approach to the subject, sincerity, research and facts and actual delivery.

Any student or teacher seeking more information can contact Antioch Sequoit Post 4551, Veterans of Foreign Wars, 75 E. North Ave., Antioch, 60002.

Boat accident in Grass Lake

Two Chicago suburban men spent a short time in the waters of Grass Lake's channel when their boat hit a bridge abutment near Grass Lake Rd. at approximately 8:30 p.m., on Thursday, July 21.

James Hanlon, 24, Arlington Heights, and the boat's driver, Tom Nelson, 27, of Elmhurst, said that they had left the boat races at Blarney Island in the Chain O' Lakes and were caught in other boats' wakes when they lost control and struck the abutment.

The Antioch Rescue Squad took the men to St. Therese Area Trauma Satellite where they were treated for slight injuries even though their boat was split in half.
